"Inflection Point is an event that changes the way we think and act"

- Andy Grove, Chairman, Intel Corporation

Borrowing a few words from Mr. Grove, the health care industry is probably at its most critical strategic inflection point. Rising health care costs, increasing competition, extensive legal compliance requirements, aging technology infrastructure and a variety of other factors indicate that a major inflection point is in play. The Healthcare Organizations, Pharmaceutical companies, Payer organizations and Providers that recognize and strategically tackle this inflection point will not only survive but also strengthen their position in the marketplace. Others will spiral into oblivion.

Ultramatics recognizes the inflection point and has put together a three-pronged approach to aide the enterprises to successfully navigate this inflection point. These include,

Compliance Frameworks

Ultramatics has released a unique HIPAA Compliance Auditing Framework that helps enterprise automate their compliance auditing. Ultramatics has taken a drastically different approach towards compliance and enables organization to proactively demonstrate compliance as opposed to paper-based audits. Based on years of experience in the large scale enterprise systems, Ultramatics has innovated a framework which enterprises can demonstrate that they are compliant much more readily than before. The salient features of this solution include:

- » A unique plug-n-play strategy that enables enterprises to plug our components at different touch points of a HIPAA transaction.
- » Capture the states of a transaction as it moves through its processing life cycle inside the enterprise.
- » Capture the necessary access logs at different touch points.
- » Generate out-of-the box customized reports based on the captured information.
- » Leverage investments on integration servers such as BizTalk, Vitria, IBM MQSeries, See Beyond and others.

By leveraging the Compliance Framework from Ultramatics, organizations can not only ease their compliance burden, but also position themselves to analyze and fine-tune their implementations. Knowledge Partner Compliance Frameworks.

Solution Services

Only those enterprises that take a strategic approach towards HIPAA compliance will be successful in the long run. Those who take tactical shotgun approaches will slowly sink in a quagmire of integration costs and missed opportunities.
